

This photo is looking uphill from the riders burial location. From this left edge of the slide, the slope above is not very big. The debris was dense wind slab from crossloading winds blowing from the left of the photo.

No Region, 2009-01-18