

Pinwheels in Hyalite

From obs: "We took a tour up into the Maid today. A generally stable snowpack in the area, new snow seemed to bond well with the underneath crust layer. We did observe small pinwheels/rollers on steep pitches on southeast aspects, mostly due to the rocks heating up during the day. We also observed sluff buildup on aprons below the shadier and steep northern aspects." Photo: Tommy S.

Advisory Region

Northern Gallatin

Longitude

-110.97W

Latitude

45.42N

Northern Gallatin, 2019-11-23