

Skier remotely triggered avalanche in N. Madisons

"Big shooting crack across the south facing path from the skin track so expected the east bowl to remotely trigger and it did from 25m away on the ridge. R3D2 slide. Confirms all previous regional reports and the concerns of the day, typical in this specific area early season. Obsessive terrain management is the only way just now." Photo: Anon

Advisory Region

Northern Madison

Longitude

-111.32W

Latitude

45.26N

Avalanche Details: Skier remotely triggered avalanche in N. Madisons

Northern Madison, 2021-01-06