

Natural Avalanche at Lionhead

This natural avalanche was likely triggered by a falling cornice in the last day or two. The slope is in the Wilderness and was seen from the boundary. Wind drifted snow is a concern in this area. Photo: GNFAAC

Advisory Region

Lionhead Range

Longitude

-111.32W

Latitude

44.73N

Avalanche Details: Naturals at Lionhead

Lionhead Range, 2021-02-23

